SOC SCI 197 - INTERNSHIPS

Through an internship, IS students have the opportunity to gain an understanding of the relationship between classroom theory and its practical application; to test career objectives; to determine if there is a proper fit between career requirements and the student's objectives; to develop professional work habits; to improve interpersonal skills; to begin networking with professional contacts; and to prepare for a smooth transition into full-time employment. International Studies majors and minors also have the opportunity to gain valuable experience in working on issues of transnational or global importance.

The information on each organization was supplied by the organization. The internship list below will serve as a guideline of past internships that have been approved. IS students are not limited to only internships found in this list. Please note all internships must be petitioned (including those found in this list). The internship petition must be reviewed and accepted, along with concurrent enrollment in Soc Sci 197, prior to the internship start date for it to be considered for international/field experience.

International Experience Online Petition: Click on the link here to access the petition form

To be eligible, an internship must meet the following criteria:

- Registered non-profit organization
- Significant international cultural experience

This list is preliminary and subject to change. Other internship opportunities pending approval.

Council on American-Islamic Relations

The Council on American Islamic Relations is a grass roots, non-profit, civil rights organization representing Muslims in North America. Headquartered in Washington D.C., and with 33 offices in 21 states and 1 chapter in Canada, we are effectively the largest Muslim civil rights organization in America. CAIR's mission is to enhance understanding of Islam, encourage dialogue, protect civil liberties, empower American Muslims, and build coalitions that promote justice and mutual understanding.

The core of the internship program emphasizes the changes that individuals can make on a local level while rooting these efforts to better the community in an understanding of how power operates on a national and international scale. In turn, interns leave with an understanding of how to push for effective local changes that has an international impact. These local changes take shape in the form of civic engagement, advocacy, coalition building, and community organizing. Interns leave the program empowered with the experience of contributing to local efforts that affect national and international policies. Find out more information about the internship program, please visit:

<https://ca.cair.com/losangeles/interns-law-clerks/>

The internship program provides a means to complement academic work with practical vocational experience through professional development and department support that identifies skills, develops leadership, and addresses critical community needs. The goal of the program is to empower the interns to further their career goals while establishing a commitment to the betterment of their local community.

All the while, students will gain an inside look at the field of online journalism and develop the portfolio and skill set to confidently advance in their careers. If you have any questions regarding the Internship Program or our volunteering opportunities you can contact the CAIR-LA Assistant Programs Manager Alia Aboul-Nasr at aaboul-nasr@cair.com.

Interns gain hands- on experience in one of the following departments:

- Civil Rights
- Public Affairs
- Media Relations
- Graphic Design
- Youth Development
- Non-Profit Administration
- Development
- Community Organizing

Global Service Scholars

The Global Service Scholars is a 3-quarter program offering UC Irvine undergraduates the opportunity to study compassion and participate in immersive service experiences.

In partnership with the School of Social Ecology and the Living Peace Foundation, the program is rooted in compassion and pairs rigorous academic preparation with an immersive service-learning trip.

Scholars, including many minority and first generation college students, first learn about the science and practice of compassion in specialized coursework, examining how to cultivate compassion for others and how to effectively leverage that compassion to make a difference. Then, they put those lessons to practical use working with organizations that work in numerous areas such as sustainability, poverty alleviation and justice.

The Tiyya Foundation

With a name derived from the Oromo word for “My Dear” or “My Love,” the Tiyya Foundation [Tiyya] is a grassroots 501(c)(3) non-profit dedicated to providing refugees of all backgrounds with the basic material, educational, and emotional support required to integrate into the communities of Orange County, California. Tiyya currently assists more than 755 refugees from 330 families, many of them escaping persecution in Central America, Syria, Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan, and Somalia. Tiyya uses a holistic approach to provide transitional assistance for families with the goal of empowering refugee youth to overcome the obstacles associated with social integration by building social support systems among refugee youth and working with parents to provide a healthy environment for their children. Since its establishment in 2010, Tiyya has made numerous impacts on the local refugee community in Orange County. Tiyya has garnered support from various organizations including the Dalai Lama Endowed Scholarship Program at UC Irvine, the Irvine Program in Public Health, the Center for Living Peace, and Chapman University. These organizations aid in the awareness raising and service efforts for Tiyya clients. Tiyya has developed a significant reputation for its work and in June 2013, was awarded best practicum site from the UCI Program in Public Health for effectively utilizing interns to make a difference in Orange County. Tiyya has received media and press attention from the Los Angeles Times and the Orange County Register, as well as television programs on CBS, KCAL9 and NBC News for their local projects and programs in Orange County, CA. Using these outlets, the organization has successfully raised awareness of the material, social, and emotional challenges of resettlement for refugees.

Internship Projects include:

- Virtual event planning
- Coordinating with local school organizations
- Outreaching to local refugee families
- Translating conversations & documents

NewGround: A Muslim-Jewish Partnership for Change

NewGround is seeking a 15-20hr/week Intern. This position will provide students with an opportunity to gain hands-on experience in nonprofit operations, communications and development.

NewGround envisions an America where Muslims and Jews are empowered to create lasting partnerships, engage in authentic communication and mutual cooperation. This vibrant model of engagement – not bound by history, theology or politics – affirms that conflict is inevitable and yet not intractable. NewGround is a community-building organization that creates, connects and empowers Jewish and Muslim change-makers in America. Through a professional fellowship, high school leadership council and public programming, NewGround transforms Muslim-Jewish relations and advances a shared agenda for change.

Essential Functions:

Assist in growth of NewGround's public presence to strengthen relationships with current and prospective supporters;
Assist in campaigns to grow NewGround's presence on social media;
Develop ongoing content to communicate the organization's activities to external stakeholders, including event collateral;
Assist in planning and implementation of fundraising events; and
Other duties and special projects as assigned.

Qualifications:

Study and demonstrate interest in relevant fields, such as International Studies, Community Development and Conflict-Resolution.

Desired Skills

Superior verbal and written communication skills with attention to detail;
Social Media savvy with excellent organizational skills;
Team driven and self-starter who effectively prioritizes tasks and projects;
Strong interpersonal skills; and
Patient, flexible, and solutions-oriented.

Corazon

All the work is done in Santa Ana, CA, but it directly supports beneficiaries in Tijuana and Tecate, Mexico. Students would be involved in a variety of business, marketing, and operations projects and have the opportunity to communicate and partner with their staff that sit in Tijuana, Mexico. Their executive director is fluent in Spanish, so should you like to, you can even practice your Spanish in the office.

They have 2-5 spots available each quarter, and give students the opportunity (if you have a U.S. passport) to visit their offices and build a home for a family in need on one Saturday throughout the quarter. This, however, is in no way mandatory. They have a full intern program running, that includes an orientation, on-site training, weekly meetings, labs, and a customized portfolio that fits every student and their skillset.

Requirements:

- Speak English fluently
- Junior or Senior in college
- Majors or interests in: Latin American Studies, Business Operations/Administration, Marketing, Writing, Spanish/Translation, Events and Social Media

Typically look for candidates who are:

- A mover and shaker. You love learning and want to be part of a vision bigger than yourself. You are unafraid of the unknown and willing to make things happen.
- Teachable. You have a lot to offer, but also know you can learn from those around you.
- Committed to the cause. You commit to offering your best solutions and work to this organization to further the mission and vision of Corazón.
- Independent and self-motivated. You can own your projects, and provide us with the best solutions and data that you have researched. You are reliable and engaged.
- Pay attention to the details. You know the importance of details and how they affect the big picture. You are calculated, accurate, and understand the balance of interpreting complex data as well as providing accurate information.

Anti-Defamation League

The Orange County/Long Beach Region of the Anti-Defamation League is looking for an intern for 10-15 hours/week who is interested in learning how a nonprofit anti-hate organization functions by assisting with the office's work and taking on appropriate projects under supervision of the Regional Director Peter Levi. We are looking for an intern each term of the school year. Interns can be paid or receive college credit.

ADL's mission has not changed since its founding in 1913: "to stop the defamation of the Jewish people and to secure justice and fair treatment to all." Now the nation's premier anti-hate organization, ADL fights anti-Semitism and all forms of bigotry, defends democratic ideals and protects civil rights for all.

ADL does this by:

1. Decreasing bigoted attitudes in the general population in the US and Israel (with an emphasis on K-12 schools, college campuses, workplaces, and law enforcement)
2. Increasing safety and security for marginalized groups, including advocating for effective laws that protect civil rights, addressing discrimination, hate crimes, and hate

This list is preliminary and subject to change. Other internship opportunities pending approval.

Academic Year 2023-2024

crime reporting; ensuring a strong separation between church and state; and assisting law enforcement in reducing bias, combatting hate crimes, extremism, and terrorism

3. Neutralizing campaigns that seek to de-legitimize Israel and marginalize members of the Jewish community

4. Increasing the ability of the American Jewish community and other groups to respond to anti-Semitism

5. Increasing civility, particularly online, including effective responses to cyberhate

ADL's intern will learn about non-profit operations by working closely with professional staff to:

- be an activate participant on the regional ADL team,
- maximize learning opportunities by "shadowing" professional team as appropriate in meetings and trainings,
- and develop special ADL project in area of interest.

Responsibilities will include:

- Front Office: Triage phone calls, provide information, instruct callers on how to report an incident online, and route calls to other staff.
- Meetings: Provide support for ongoing meetings, including Regional Board Meetings, Glass Leadership, Institute, and committee meetings. This includes reminder calls/e-mails to participants, printing and copying meeting materials, arranging meals, and submitting facilities requests for after-hours meetings.
- Events: Assist with event logistics planning, maintain event websites, event set-up, guest registration, answer or direct guest inquiries to appropriate staff person. At smaller events with no professional photographer, photograph and take video of events.
- Fundraising: Provide updated donor information, prepare timely and accurate donor profiles, donor acknowledgements (thank you calls and handwritten letters).
- Education: Help compile, organize, and maintain education resources and information.
- Digital Media: Create, share and post content, including but not limited to: Regional social media accounts, web pages, and e-newsletters.
- Other Administrative Duties: Maintain/update contact lists (schools, politicians, law enforcement, places of worship, etc.) to ensure that they are up to date and accurate to import into CRM (Salesforce). Route documents and requests to ADL's central office in NY.

CAUSE began as two separate organizations, CAUSE in Ventura County in 2001 and PUEBLO in Santa Barbara County in 2003, which both emerged during the nationwide living wage movement and won milestone victories to create a living wage region on the Central Coast, lifting wages for thousands of workers. In 2013, the two organizations joined forces, and CAUSE took on PUEBLO's work in Santa Barbara County, creating a regional organization for social, economic and environmental justice.

CAUSE's Mission:

CAUSE is a base-building organization committed to social, economic, and environmental justice for working-class and immigrant communities in California's Central Coast. We build grassroots power through community organizing, leadership development, coalition building, civic engagement, policy research, and advocacy.

CAUSE's vision is that together we can create a global community where we all contribute to, and benefit from, a sustainable economy that is just, prosperous and environmentally healthy.
